

Abstract

The purpose of this report is to gain a better understanding of horses and their place in the world.

Background Research:

Horses have been domesticated around 4500 BC. They are used for manual labor, transportation, and recreational activities such as racing, show jumping, and dressage. They have been used for ceremonial purposes and in battles throughout history.

Horses

Results

Horses are well-adapted for many activities. They can run at speeds up to 48 km/h. They form herds and bonds with other creatures, including humans.

Conclusion

Horses are well-adapted for many activities.

Future Directions

In the future, research can be done on the evolution of horses, their interactions with humans, and their impact on culture.
